Sheriff, Port & Harbor Sliced In County Millage Hassle

After a considerable amount of figure juggling and salary cuts which left both the sheriff and the Port and Harbor director disgruntled, Hancock County supervisors settled the 1973-74 county millage by late afternoon Friday.

The only two significant changes came in reduction of overall budget totals submitted by the sheriff's department and the Port and Harbor Commission, bringing the final millage assessment to 70.55 for beats one, two, three and four. Reinstatement of one mill for retirement of a bond issue in old beat five set millage assessment for beat five at 71.55, causing a somewhat complicated assessment situation for county tax assessor-collector George Heltzmann. The reinstated one mill for beat five Road and Bridge fund, had been in effect in past years to retire a bond issue made before redistricting.

The bond issue mill was dropped during the 1972-73 fiscal year, although the bond debt had not been retired. A decrease of one mill in the county school district bond account enabled the board Friday to add the mill to the beat five account.

All beat five residents will not be affected by the increase, however, as the assessment is set on old beat lines

United Fund Workers Dig In

BREAKING GROUND to kickoff this year's United Fund Drive for Hancock County are, from left, Burt Barrett, chairman of public relations, Mrs. Eve McDonald and Mrs. Lucille Feeney, co-chairmen of the United Fund drive, and Norton Haas, Sr., president of the Hancock County chapter. The goal set for Hancock County this year is $30,000 and UF workers are appealing to all county residents to respond to the drive with the same generosity as they have in past years. Solicitations for business and professional personnel will begin next week and continue through September. Door-to-door solicitations will be conducted October 1 through 15. The United Fund banquet has been scheduled for Oct. 2 at Diamondhead Country Club.

Seven Injured In Bridge Crash

Seven persons were taken to Hancock General Hospital Tuesday with injuries sustained in a two-car collision on the Bay bridge about 11 a.m.

The collision occurred when William Stieffel, 1422 Music St., New Orleans, realized his 1971 Chevrolet sedan was overheating, pulled over to the side of the bridge and stopped. Riding in the car with Stieffel were his wife, Christine, and two daughters, Linda, 3, and Nancy, 6.

Shortly after, a 1970 Volkswagen driven by Robert D. Hamm, Nahunta, Ga., ran into the rear of the Chevrolet, knocking the Chevrolet approximately 50 feet ahead, according to a report by Highway Safety Patrolman Ray Collins, who investigated the accident. Collins said the VW left 27 feet of skidmarks before the point of impact. Both cars appeared to be demolished, Collins reported. Passengers in the Hamm vehicle were Mrs. Wanda Hamm and the couple's nine-day-old infant, Robert Jr. All seven persons in the two cars suffered cuts, bruises and abrasions and were taken by Riemann-Fahey ambulance to Hancock General Hospital where they were given emergency treatment. Hamm was cited for following too closely.

Vacation Trip Ends In Drownings

Three teenagers, vacationing on the Gulf Coast with an Atlanta settlement house group, drowned Saturday afternoon while swimming in the Sound near Gulfside Methodist Assembly in Waveland.

Shortly after 5 p.m., searchers in rescue boats found the bodies of Jimmy Sprattling, 13, his sister, Eva, 12 and Theresa Williams, 13 in seven feet of water at the edge of the channel some 400 yards out from the beach.

The three children were with a group of 41 teenagers and counselors from Emmaus House, a non-denominational center in Atlanta, on a week-long vacation at Gulfside. Earlier Saturday afternoon, most of the group had been swimming and wading in the shallow water in front of the Methodist Assembly complex.

Eyewitnesses to the tragic incident at first told County Civil Defense Director Donald McIntyre that when some of the swimmers appeared to be in trouble in deep water, others went to assist. The two Sprattling children and the Williams girl, however, went down and disappeared before they could be rescued.

Some five boats answered the emergency call for help and the area was dragged for almost an hour before the children's bodies were found in seven feet of water.

Coordinating water search efforts was Miss. Boat and Water Safety Patrolman Joe Seal, who recovered the bodies of the Sprattling boy and one of the girls. Seal was assisted in his boat by Charles Marino and Emanuel Palmisano, both New Orleans area residents who were camping nearby.

The third body was recovered by Bay City Councilman Lucien Kidd, in another boat with Lee Ferrell and Robert Stroud.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size income criteria for use in determining eligibility.

Family Size	Income
1	2,740
2	3,600
3	4,460
4	5,310
5	6,100
6	6,890
7	7,600
8	8,310
9	8,960
10	9,600
11	10,240
12	10,830

Each additional family member

Children from families whose income is at or below those shown are eligible for free meals. In addition, families not meeting this criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has such children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals for them, they should contact the school.

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of his race, sex, color or national origin. Under the provision of the policy the Attendance Center Principal will review applications and determine eligibility.

Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy.

A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school.

No News Is Not Good

In the 30 months during which The Sea Coast Echo has maintained a news bureau for the communities of Pass Christian and Long Beach, it has constantly met with a lack of cooperation from the Long Beach School Superintendent's office.

The reason for such behavior has yet to be explained. The Echo has consistently and impartially reported on school business which is conducted by the Board of trustees one Tuesday a month, and it is the only news medium which does so. Yet Superintendent of Schools Joe Reeves has never seen fit to voluntarily release any information from his office to our paper. Other news media whose primary coverage does not cross over into the boundaries of the Long Beach School Board, however, receive numerous releases of previously unannounced school news.

The latest omission came this week when Reeves did not release to the Echo information relating to registration of pre-school and returning students in the district's schools. A request for the information was obviously ignored.

We ask only, why?

Why does the superintendent fail to properly inform taxpayers within his district of news imperative to the attendance of their children in tax-supported institutions? Why has the superintendent consistently and obviously ignored the only medium which has consistently shown interest in his department? Why does the superintendent request only spot coverage from otherwise absent news media at school board meetings when the topics include his own contract renewal and school expansion, but not when the topics include a conflict of interests, as adjudged by the State's attorney general, when a school trustee engages in private business with the school, or parents' complaints of ill-prepared cafeteria food?

Superintendent Joe Reeves obviously does not wish The Sea Coast Echo, the largest weekly newspaper in the State of Mississippi and the only newspaper which consistently publishes the business of the school district, to tell its readers this week how to register their children for school.

We ask only, why?

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

We're in the dog days, and all the human "dogs" seem to be in full cry. Did you ever hear of so many cheatings and stealings and general crookedness as have assaulted the nostrils in the past year? And these crimes are committed by people in positions of trust. Upon conviction by a jury of irate townspeople, they should be sentenced to jobs as streetsweepers, and every night should have their noses rubbed in manure.

We read the other night of a La. legislator, elected by the people, who repays his friends by keeping his two grandsons on the state payroll as his "assistants" and who, by some finagling, is able to charge the state a healthy sum as rent for his own shack as an office. He defends this as being perfectly legal, and perhaps it is, but we are sure we would not care to breathe the same air as this pig.

Incidents like this are happening every day; did you ever wonder what goes on in the minds of such people? In the silence of the night do they ever lie awake and face themselves as they really are? Does the time ever come when they whisper in the dark, "What does it profit a man if he gains the world and loses his own soul?" When he figures a way to make a lot of money by circumventing the law, even if he brings unhappiness and even misery to men, women, and children, does it matter to him that money is the root of all evil, and that evil is punished by death of the soul?

Okay, so he doesn't care about that part of him called the soul. He doesn't believe in any hereafter but only in amassing wealth here and now. Does he ever ask himself what good their millions did for Fluke or Gould or Carnegie or Mellon? Ford had a foundation named for him, and his descendants live in - what? Luxury, yes; happiness, we wonder. Years ago we were the guest of Charlie Schwab in his palatial home on several occasions; from what we could see, he lived no better and was no happier than thousands of others who had but a fraction of his wealth.

But the ironic fact is that most men who cheat and steal and dodge laws to get money get only piddling amounts for their dishonesty. The La. legislator won only about $400 a week in cash; he did get a million dollars' worth of contempt from decent-minded folks. One can picture him as he went through dodging laws, skirting issues, and dodging principles, always worshipping the dollar. We would like to lay an appropriate tribute on his grave some day: a decaying head of cabbage, and we wonder, not very hopefully, how his grandsons will turn out.

Yet, to sum it up, we always wonder why, though most agree on the evils of money, so many continue to worship at that shrine?

OUR AILING ECONOMY

Prescribing a remedy for our ailing economy is like watching a group of city slickers nurse a sick cow. Everyone agrees that the cow is sick, but no one can offer a sure-fire cure.

By the same measure, everyone recognizes the sad state of our economy. We just can't agree on a solution.

One leading economist thinks we should remove all controls at once and allow the economy to fluctuate until it finds solid ground. Another expert has urged still tighter controls.

I personally believe there is no single right answer. Like the energy crisis, the economy crisis is the direct result of many problems and -- as such -- necessarily requires many remedies.

First off, we must recognize the economy crisis as the number one issue in the country today. We must not be sidetracked by Watergate or Cambodia or any of a thousand other issues. The state of our economy, without question, is the most crucial issue Americans face today.

This is not to minimize the importance of other issues. It is simply an effort to place things in proper perspective.

Using hindsight, it is easy to say that the government should never have become involved in trying to control the economy. Government controls, historians tell us, only magnify the problem.

Still, government many years ago did become involved. It is now involved to such an extent that wage and price controls are the order of the day.

President Nixon, the villain to many economy-watchers, simply inherited inflation from an earlier administration. Big budget deficits and excessive growth of money and credit were staring him in the face when he first took office.

Faced with galloping inflation, the President did try some of the classical remedies, such as increasing supplies by expanding farm acreage and selling government stockpiles. But those moves require time, something many people refused to give him.

As a result, he has shied away from strong fiscal restraints -- tax increases and stringent spending cuts -- and has turned back to reliance on controls.

The only problem, of course, with price controls is that such controls are only temporary. Sooner or later, we must remove the controls -- and watch the prices soar again.

We are already beginning to see this phenomenon in many sections of the country, where the partial lifting of the freeze is catching the housewife's attention. And officials warn that still higher grocery bills are inevitable.

The real culprits in this chain of events, as I see it, are the free-wheelers who think the only way to solve a problem is to throw a barrel of money at it. Reckless, irresponsible, wasteful spending paved the way for the sad state of today's economy. I, for one, think it is time we tighten our belts, look the problem square in the eye, and seriously move toward workable solutions.

... and the Cow Jumped Over The Moon.

SOYBEAN INSECTS

Watch your soybeans for insects during August. Through blooming, soybeans can withstand up to 35 percent defoliation. As pods begin to form and fill, a 20 percent or greater loss of foliage will reduce yields.

Pod-feeding insects usually are more harmful to soybean yields. From mid-August on, keep a close watch for bollworms, especially on late maturing varieties. If you find one boll-worm per foot of row-pod, stinkbugs can also be very damaging to seed pods. Here again, you should poison if you find one stinkbug per foot of row.

FORAGES

With the high price of protein supplement, forages seem to be the most economical source of protein for cattle. Harvesting at the right state of growth and good fertilization are two most important factors affecting the protein content of forage.

Let cattle graze pastures closely and clip all excess forage for hay. It will also pay off to give pastures an additional application of nitrogen fertilizer.

LIME

On most Mississippi farms, lime is the most needed investment. Lime vendors and suppliers are making special efforts to see that there is an adequate lime supply on hand this fall.

Liming pastures now will free lime trucks for use on row crop land in the fall following harvest.

FOREST INSECTS

The southern pine beetle is the most dangerous and the most dreaded insect enemy of southern pines. It attacks trees of pulpwood and sawlog size. It kills trees quickly by girdling. It also induces a blue stain that degrades the lumber that can be salvaged from killed trees.

This insect generally first attacks weakened and damaged trees and may later spread to other trees, sometimes over large acreage.

The best control for southern pine beetles is to prevent its attack. Pine stands should be kept as healthy as possible. Stands should be thinned regularly to prevent crowding. Infested trees should be salvaged as soon as possible after attack. Large unused branches and sections of the trunk should be piled and either burned or removed from the vicinity of other trees.

VA Report

Q-As a service disabled veteran, I have Veterans Administration Mortgage Life Insurance coverage on my specially adapted home. How long will this coverage last?

A-Until the mortgage has been paid off, the home is sold, or until you reach age 70 unless you die earlier.

Q-If a veteran with a non service connected disability dies in a private hospital, will the Veterans Administration pay transportation costs to place of burial?

A-No. VA is allowed to provide this benefit only if the veteran died while being treated in a VA hospital or while being treated at VA expense.

Q-Are World War II veterans eligible for Veterans Administration pensions at age 65?

A-VA pensions (not compensation) are based on need. If at age 65 a single veteran's income does not exceed $3,000 a year, or $3,800 for a veteran with dependents, a pension may be granted.

Social Security Information

Almost one-third of the Nation's household workers could be eligible for social security retirement benefits in 7 years or less, according to Mary Ann Farmer, social security representative in Gulfport.

"Most women household workers are in their 40's, but 29 percent are over 50. These are the workers who could start getting retirement benefits in 7 years or less," Mrs. Farmer said. A household worker can get reduced monthly social security retirement checks beginning at 62--or full benefits beginning at 65--if she has worked long enough in jobs covered by social security.

There are nearly 1.7 million household workers in the Nation, and 1.5 million are women, Mrs. Farmer said.

A-household worker's cash wages count for social security if she is paid $50 or more in a 3-month calendar quarter from one employer working as a maid, cook, cleaning woman, laundress, housekeeper, babysitter, etc., in someone else's home.

"This means," Mrs. Farmer said, "that a household worker's wages are covered by social security if she is paid as much as $3.85 per week in cash for 13 consecutive weeks in a calendar quarter."

"To get the proper social security credit for her earnings," Mrs. Farmer said, "a household worker should be sure to give her employer her correct social security number. The employer is responsible for sending a quarterly report of wages paid and the social security contributions to the Internal Revenue Service."

United States Senate

John C. Stennis
U.S.S.

Senator John C. Stennis' bill to encourage expanded timber production on small, non-industrial tracts of land received final congressional approval Aug. 3 and was sent to the White House to be signed into law.

The Stennis bill would allow the federal government to share with farmers and small landowners the high cost of starting or expanding tree farms in an effort to avoid an expected wood resources crisis in future years.

"Passage of this bill is a clear sign that Congress recognizes the need for an intensive effort to develop forests and woodlands before a shortage occurs," the senator said.

"We know that in just three decades, the demand for timber will be twice as great as it is today. Due to the long time required to grow trees, a start must be made now to build an adequate supply of wood resources to meet this expected demand."

"Most of the additional wood supply will have to come from small, privately owned plots of land which are not now growing trees at full capacity."

"In recent years it has been the practice of government to react to crises as they develop. In too many crises, there has been no record of programs designed to anticipate and avoid these problems. Hopefully, my forestry program will help develop a recognition of the need to plan ahead, to start programs soon enough to avoid predicted shortages."

THE BOOKWORM

BY: ETHEL E. EVANS Publicity Chairman
Friends of the City-County Library

If you were among those who went to the recent coffee sponsored by Friends of the Library, then you know what an interesting event it was; but if you didn't get to attend for one reason or another, let us tell you about it.

Artists, and others especially interested in art, were invited to view the exhibit of art books of the Knowles collection recently given to the Library, as well as other art books purchased by the Library. Private collectors loaned some of their especially beautiful art items, one of which is a Chinese sculpture owned by the late Mr. Dolseu. Two rare paintings, more than 70 years old, a piece of sculpture, done in Florence, Italy of Carrara marble which stands about three feet high and titled "The Fisher Boy," and several equally attractive bronze sculptures were among the items on display.

The seashell called the chambered nautilus was also on display and undoubtedly took its viewers back to their school days when reading the poem of that name had conjured mind-pictures of how it really looked.

This exhibit was the result of much planning on the part of Friends of the Library's Art Chairman, Mrs. D. O. Trombley.

Art exhibits continue at Merchants Bank, sponsored by Friends of the Library. Now on display is a painting by Joan de Sakhoffsky, titled "Sea Shell." Also included are Bill Schriever's collection of wood carvings, featuring a five-foot high candlestick, a table, an American eagle, and the bust of a young girl.

Friends of the Library feel privileged that so many talented local artists are willing to share their collections for public exhibit at the Library and the bank.

Again a warm welcome is extended to anyone who may be interested in joining the Friends of the Library group. A phone call to the president, Mrs. W. L. Argus, who will explain our aims and endeavors, is the first move in the right direction.

A little late, but most sincere congratulations and best wishes to the new libraries recently opened in Pass Christian and Ocean Springs.

TRYING TO HELP - Dr. John Russell, director of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Drug Abuse Center, answers one of the many crisis calls which come into the center every day. These calls, from young people, parents and police, come into the center and Catacombs, an affiliated rehabilitation center, at all hours. If a person calls and needs help, there is always someone to assist. The centers have a crisis intervention crew composed of people of all ages and occupations, who assist those on bad drug trips or anyone needing just to talk with someone. The crisis intervention crew also makes hospital and jail calls.

Coast-Leader Contents Philadelphia Is Arena For Drug Abuse Fight

by Renee Smith
 Echo staff writer
 Everyday new drugs are being put on the market, many of which may later find their way onto the streets and into the hands of drug addicts.

Recently, John F. Russell, M.D., director of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Drug Abuse Center, was invited to Philadelphia, Pa., to discuss ways of modifying the abuse potential of a new drug form.

Smith, Kline and French, one of the country's leading pharmaceutical companies, invited Dr. Russell to Philadelphia to meet with their chemists and administrators to examine the abuse potential of the company's various forms of propoxhine (Darvon, Doxene), and to look into ways of modifying the product to a lower abuse potential.

The company is planning to release two forms of propoxhine, one of which is very soluble. As the solubility of a drug increases, so does its potential for drug abuse, Dr. Russell said.

He said the company's officials were quite receptive and as a result of the meetings, they assigned members of their staff to study the situation and to set up experiments to find methods to reduce the drug's abuse capability.

During his stay, Dr. Russell met with the Coordinating Office For Drug and Alcohol Abuse programs, drug abuse authorities in Philadelphia, to exchange ideas and concepts on more recent forms of drug therapy and their modifications.

Slight Rise In Social Security

Social security beneficiaries will receive an increase in their monthly benefits of 5.9 percent next June instead of the 5.6 percent initially estimated when the benefit increase legislation was enacted early in July.

Mary Ann Farmer, social security representative in Gulfport, said the 5.9 percent increase represents the percentage increase in the consumer price index for June 1973 over the CPI for June 1972, the two months to be considered in fixing the amount of the benefit increase called for in the legislation (PL 93-66). The 5.6 percent figure was an estimate widely discussed during development of the social security amendments in a bill providing for the extension of the Renegotiation Act of 1961. The exact increase could not be determined until the CPI figure was calculated. This figure was announced on July 20.

The increase becomes effective with monthly benefit checks for June that will reach social security beneficiaries in July 1974, Mrs. Farmer said.

Expensive entertainment.

Most of us take electricity for granted... so much so that we use it a lot of times when we don't really need to. A TV set left on while nobody's watching it... light bulbs left on while nobody's using them... things like this are small, but all together they add up to a big waste of electricity. Your Electric Power Association reminds you that the best way to reduce your electric bill is to use electricity wisely, to keep the little things from adding up. A little common sense will go a long way toward saving you money. For a helpful, free booklet on how to save on electric bills, just write or visit us.

AARP CHARTER - Fred Fisher, president of the American Association of Retired Persons, Hancock County Chapter 1114, is pictured with the new charter presented to the local chapter after one year of service in the community.

Hancock County AARP Chartered

The American Association of Retired Persons, Hancock County Chapter No. 1114, held its regular meeting July 16 at the Main St. Methodist Church.

Abner H. Daniel, state representative, presented the charter to the 200 members with the charter on behalf of the national organization. Guest speaker for the meeting was J.M. Farris, Area IV vice-president. His topic was The Older Citizens of America Control the Vote, because of the statistical voting polls by age over the past decade.

The August 20 meeting will be held at the Main St. Methodist Friendship Hall, at 10 a.m., at which time the guest speaker will be Donald McIntyre, Civil Defense director of Hancock County.

New Student Aid Program Open

Students who need money for their education after high school may now apply for Basic Educational Opportunity Grants, according to HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger.

To apply for a Basic Grant, an "Application for Determination of Expected Family Contribution" must be obtained, filled out, and mailed to P.O. Box B, Iowa City, Iowa 52240. Within a month the student is notified of the amount of his family's expected contribution. He then submits the notification to the school of his choice, which calculates the amount of the Basic Grant to which he is entitled.

Application forms are now available at student financial aid offices at postsecondary institutions, high school guidance offices, post offices, state employment offices, county agricultural extension agents, and Talent Search. Coast Oysters Lowest In DDT Residue

Pesticide surveillance of oysters has been carried on by Gulf Coast Research Laboratory of Ocean Springs in collaboration with the Environmental Research Laboratory, United States Environmental Protection Agency, Gulf Breeze, Florida, over the period 1965-1972.

Edible mollusks in fourteen coastal states were analyzed under the same program, including the Pacific states of California and Washington. The results have just been published by Dr. Philip A. Butler in the Pesticide Monitoring Journal in an article entitled "Organochlorine residues in estuarine mollusks, 1965-72 - National Pesticide Monitoring Program."

In brief, the report states that "only four states had a lower incidence of DDT residues in oysters, . . . and the maximum detected in Mississippi was lower than in twelve of the other states studied."

An important finding was the fact that DDT residues declined in all states, following prohibition of the use of this pesticide in 1972.

Eagan Sets BWYC Record

Bay St. Louis super sailor Marc Eagan has established a record at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club which sailing buffs say will be hard to match. Eagan has racked up a perfect 1,000 point score in sailing race competition by completing this season undefeated in the Expert Class, and concurrently, winning the BWYC Cock of the Walk trophy.

The 18-year-old Loyola University freshman and other BWYC expert sailors will compete in Lipton elimination races this weekend to determine which four will sail in the Labor Day weekend Lipton Regatta, to be held at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. Local sailors won the coveted Lipton trophy the last two consecutive years and are working hard to make it a third.

COASTAL MENTAL HEALTH CLINIC

SCHOOL READINESS
Starting to school is a major social event in everyone's life. No matter how much attention has been given to preparation for school, it is still a great change to leave one's family and spend six to eight hours a day in new surroundings with new demands and many different people.

If a child's relationship at home with his family is warm and happy, he has a very good chance of making an easy and pleasant adjustment to school life. A child who has been encouraged to accept gradually increasing responsibilities at home and to participate in group activities in keeping with his age and maturity will have an easier time when he goes to school. In addition, there are a number of specific things to consider which can help a child enjoy school and adjust to school life more readily.

Before entering school every child should have a physical examination with special attention to eyes, ears, and teeth. He should have all recommended shots either at a doctor's office or at the health department. Special attention should be given to any physical, mental, or emotional handicaps, as these can be treated more easily if they are recognized early. Parents should be sure to obtain birth and immunization certificates and complete school registration forms as early as possible.

Learning how to take care of his possessions and how to dress himself can be very important to a child. By the time he is ready to begin school he should be able to dress himself (including using buttons, zippers, and shoelaces), go to the bathroom alone and without help, go about his immediate neighborhood unattended, and play cooperatively in small groups of children his own age. It is helpful if he has learned that he cannot have immediate attention at all times and that he will sometimes have to wait his turn in doing things.

Sometimes if a child is the oldest child in his family, his parents may not realize that he is as capable of doing things for himself as he really is. Sometimes a child with several older children in the family will not learn to do things for himself because someone is always there to help. And sometimes a child (especially one with older parents) may have had limited experiences because his parents have been over-protective and over-anxious about his safety.

Most children will be much more enthusiastic and less anxious about beginning school if they have visited the school several times, have met their teacher if possible, and if they know about such important details as where the bathroom is, where they are to keep their personal belongings, how they get their lunch, and how to get to and from school easily, including crossing streets with traffic lights or riding the school bus. A little thoughtful planning can go a long way toward helping a child with a pleasant beginning to a rewarding school experience.

Try Volume 1 for 49¢. It'll sell you the rest of the set.

The Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia contains 183,000 indexed subjects. It has over 7,000 illustrations—including a full-color World Atlas. It's bound in sturdy, elegant covers. It's up-to-date (President Nixon's China trip, Strategic Arms Limitations (SALT) Talks, et al.).

Funk & Wagnalls publishes annual yearbooks to keep it that way. And it's written in clear, simple English. (The Funk & Wagnalls is a family encyclopedia, designed to help students, not stump them.)

Read what Saturday Review says about the Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia:

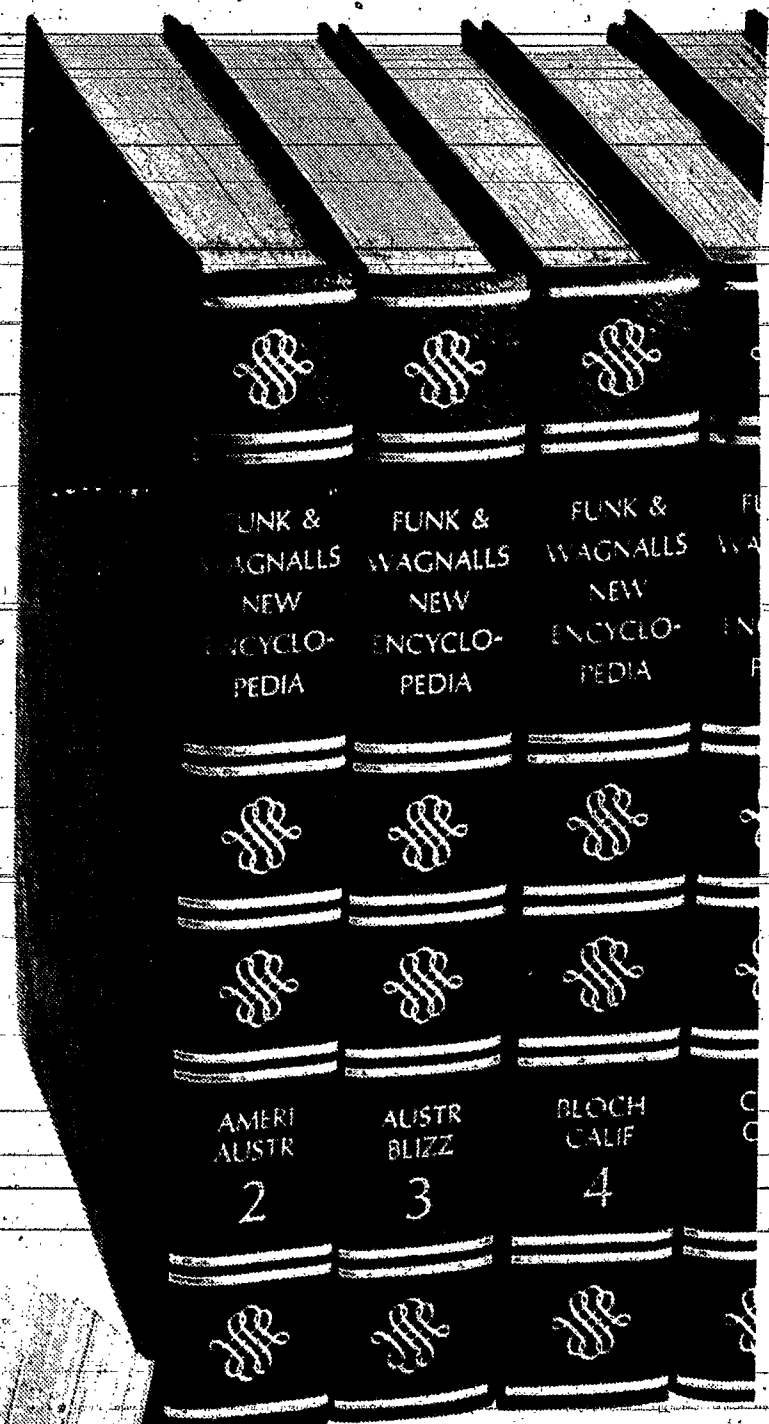

"Can a good encyclopedia be bought in a supermarket? Decidedly, if it's the handy-sized Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia, edited by Joseph L. Morse and William H. Hendelson. The articles cover a tremendous range of subjects from prehistory to Golda Meir, or art, space biology and the Northern Ireland disorders. The clarity of the text—written by a battery of leaders in their respective fields—and the number of illustrations and maps (more than seven thousand) are remarkable achievements, especially when you consider the bargain price."

There's more to electricity than meets the plug

Through wise use of your electric service, you not only conserve your money but also our nation's vital natural resources.

8 "Centsible" Tips On Refrigerators & Freezers

Americans enjoy the world's best and most varied diet—and electricity can take credit for a lot of that. You know how important your electric refrigerator and freezer are for storing and preserving food for your family's balanced meals. Here's how you can get the most out of your electric service by following a few money-saving, energy-conserving refrigerator-freezer tips.

Your refrigerator or freezer will require less energy to do its job well if you keep it away from heating equipment, warm air ducts, or direct sunlight. Don't place them next to the electric range, for example. Instead, keep your cooling units in the coolest spot in the room.

At least twice each year, check your refrigerator condenser for dust and lint build-up. If the condenser, located in the motor compartment, is covered with dust and lint for an extended time, the refrigerator will run longer and the compressor could fail. Check the manufacturer's instruction book for proper cleaning instructions or consult your appliance dealer.

Regularly inspect gaskets on refrigerator and freezer doors for wear. If gaskets are worn, doors don't seal tightly and cold air is escaping—and that means less operating efficiency and higher costs for you!

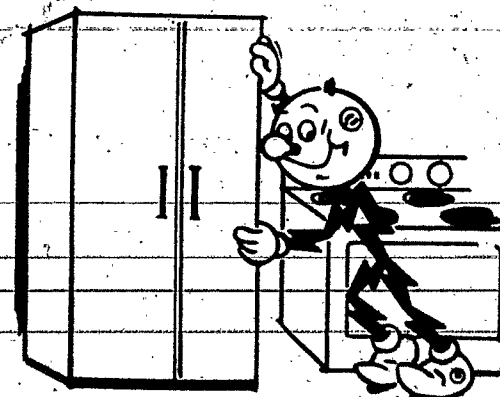

Does your temperature setting have to be as cold as it is? For proper temperature control, refer to the manufacturer's manual and follow the suggested settings for all situations.

You lose cold air each time the refrigerator or freezer door is opened. Do not open the doors any more than you need to; take out as much food as necessary at one opening. And don't forget to make certain the refrigerator door is closed after the youngsters open it for a snack.

When you put large amounts of food in the freezer at one time, turn the control to a colder setting for quick freezing. When all the packages are frozen, turn the control back to the normal setting.

Let hot foods cool to room temperature before placing them in your refrigerator or freezer. In frost-free refrigerators or freezers, keep liquids covered to cut down on moisture build-up.

Don't overcrowd your refrigerator. This will interfere with proper air circulation. Buy the size appliance that specifically fits your family's needs. Overcrowded units may use more energy to keep everything cool.

Training Starts For Ole Miss Rebs

Mississippi's 1973 Rebel clan, totaling 69 on the varsity level, gathers on the campus Wednesday for the launching of preliminary football training.

The Johnny Rebs have their inaugural drill scheduled for Friday afternoon. Thereafter, they have 26 practice sessions slated into the Sept. 8 campaign inaugural in Jackson with Villanova. They will work without pads through the preliminary stages of training.

Head coach Billy R. Kinard, headed for his third campaign at Ole Miss, and his staff will guide a young squad that will be fronted by a dozen plus tested veterans at eight berths on offense and four on defense.

In what is obviously a building year, a total of 28 lettermen, 11 on offense, 16 on defense, and one with the kicking unit, plus three from the 1971 team are among the mainstays reporting.

Of the 69 squadmembers currently with varsity status, there are 16 seniors, 13 juniors and 40 sophomores, 30 up from last fall's freshman team.

Among the keynoting veterans are tight end Butch Veazey, quarterbacks Norris Weese and Kenny Lyons, left guard Art Bressler, center Chuck Wood and right tackle Dave Parham, split end Bill Malouf, tailbacks Larry Kramer and Jim Winstead and fullback Gene Allen.

Harry Harrison at strong safety, Stump Russell and Bob Bailett at strong linebacker, Jim Stuart at middle linebacker and Bill May at right tackle are among the defensive vets returning.

Ben Williams at left tackle and Scott Steele at weakside linebacker are among the semi-skilled. They're sophomore lettermen who have gained current starter status. Paul Hofer at fullback and Steve Lavinghouse, the kicking specialist, are the other sophomore lettermen.

Ladner Named Coach Of The Year

Roland Ladner, head basketball coach at Hancock North Central School, was recently named Mississippi Basketball Coach of the Year.

Ladner is a veteran of 22 years of basketball coaching and one-time star player at Sellers High School. He coached at Sellers College after graduation from Pearl River Junior College, and later was basketball coach at Harrison Central High School.

In 1963, following a two-year hitch in the U.S. Army, Coach Ladner took over at Hancock North Central. Teams under Ladner's direction have chalked up 763 game wins and lost only 141, winning 15 District VIII titles. Ladner's HNC cagers were 1966 Class A champs of Mississippi and won the Gulf Coast Conference in 1961-1966.

Ladner is a member of the Miss. Assn. of Coaches Executive Committee and has coached the M.A.C. All Stars twice, winning both times.

Although the weather conditions over the weekend read partly cloudy to cloudy with scattered showers, the weather was just what the doctor ordered for fishing. Not too much rain, fell. Bass and perch fishing best while salt water fishing was mediocre with speckles and other salt water fish being caught mostly down by Bayou Caddy.

Bass were caught on the fly rod and by casting most anywhere good water was found. There is always deep sea fishing this time of the year out at Chandeller Islands and at the Marsh.

Floundering has been on the lean side. Crabbing has been good also. Still haven't heard of too much soft crabbing. Just another one of those seasons.

Jim and Lee Fawkes visited Robert and Pauline Glassell in Waveland for a week. The Fawkes and Pauline went shrimping. It was the first time for all. Had a grand time. Mr. and Mrs. Fawkes are from Garden Grove, California. Hurry back folks.

Tom Miller with Louie Decell caught some nice salt water fish last week. Both are ardent fishermen. Won't tell you how many fish they catch!

The first meeting of the Sideline Club of St. Stanislaus will be held this Thursday night in the boys' dining room at 8 p.m. This first meeting will be an organizational one. Projects for the new year will be discussed. Plans will be made for the coming football season. The membership drive will officially open. Good hard working members are needed. After this meeting regular meetings will be held on Tuesday nights as usual. Officers of the Club are E.V. (Gus) Ames, president Donald Strong, V.P. and Andy Adam, V.P. Br. Phillips, secretary.

All us golfers were glad to read Monday where the incomparable Jack Nicklaus won his 14th major tourney Sunday afternoon. I have played golf for the past 66 years. Saw and met Bobby Jones who I think was the best golfer until Jack came along. There is more to golf than one thinks. There is a wonderful golf course right in our back yard at Pass Christian Isles. Try playing golf. You'll like it. Among local golfers who play regularly are Sheldon Seuzeneau, Boeey Blanchard, Sidney Prague, John Seafide, Sr., Jim, David and C.C. McDonald, Jr., Lucien Kidd, Red Reinike, Russell Elliott and others I can't think of. Met a real sport who does all kinds of fishing. He is M.J. Wilde who also does a little hunting. Was busy at the wedding Saturday over in New Orleans.

Martin P. Kelly, Jr., who hails from Metairie, La. is a salt water fisherman. He goes on every occasion. Brings back some big ones, too.

Met E.J. Fricke also of Metairie. He is the comptroller at Xavier Univ. When not working you can bet he is fishing. "Nothing better," I'll say.

Expect our son-in-law, Lt. Col. Howard Duff, over this weekend from Holland. He is coming to enroll his eldest son Pat in LSU. Couldn't bring the whole family this time. Will probably do some fishing while here.

Al Mercier said he has been catching some nice salt water fish and hard crabs over at the Pass Christian Harbor. Says it is a fine place to enjoy both sports.

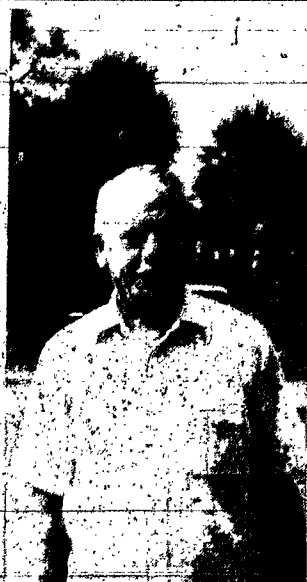

If you own an aluminum boat it is good to know that Tony Morreale can weld it. He can be found just off Hwy 90 this side of Nicholson Ave. Knows his business when it comes to repairing them.

There will be a fish fry at Eddie Marquez's Bar on the beach Friday night. Everyone is invited. Bring a friend along.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Foster of Memphis, Tenn. are here for a couple of weeks on their annual vacation. They love any kind of fishing and crabbing. Cliff does mostly casting and fly fishing. The time is too short to do everything, he said. The Fosters had as guests Mathias Schmid and Mrs. Charles Ladd III his sister originally from Vierhelmen, Germany. Mathias is a 15-year old judo Champion for his age group in Germany and enjoyed fishing while visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Foster at the Bay. Mrs. Ladd now lives in San Antonio, Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Foster are visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pate while in the Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Armstrong also of Memphis and Wayne's brother, Tyler, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pate. Wayne and his brother have also enjoyed fishing while here.

Ed Carol a nephew whom I

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK Matt Howard is a long-time fisherman. As long as the fish bite, everything is OK with Matt.

haven't seen for over 40 years dropped in Monday to see us. Quite a surprise. Ed now lives in Natchez. Quite a fisherman, too.

Talk about using a cast net. Audrey Curet can throw one better than most men for shrimp. Much better than Vic Schwartz or Joe Eddy, according to Vic.

Joe Leddy Vic Schwartz, with son Nelson caught 175 lbs. of Mulletts one night last week. All Vic could say was fun, fun, fun, catching them, frying them and eating them. Learned from Joe the best way to fry mulletts is to get the grease red hot, put them in and when they come to the top they are ready. This threesome catches frogs, soft crabs, flounders, etc.

HAND TO HAND COMBAT was almost necessary when Tommy Koger, above, hooked this 38-pound alligator gar on his hand line recently in the Yacht Club harbor. The young fisherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Koger of Bay St. Louis, persevered however, and landed the 40-inch monster on his own.

EASTERN STAR VISITOR Bay Chapter 129, Order of the Eastern Star, will have an official visit from the Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Maude Faires of Corinth, Miss., Friday, August 24, at 8 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, Main Street, followed by refreshments in the dining room.

Fishing Rodeo Set Saturday

All local boys and girls between the ages of six and 12 are reminded to join the first annual Waveland Jaycees Children's Fishing Rodeo, Saturday from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission is FREE and participants will register at the Jaycee weighing stand on the jetty at the end of Terrace St. in Waveland. Prizes will be awarded for the largest and second largest fish, as well as a prize for the largest fish in the following categories: flounder, specks, croker and catfish. There will be soft drinks and hot dogs for sale as well as bait. Supervision of the activity as well as judging will be by Waveland Jaycees.

Happy New Year! Phillips College Classes Start Soon

Last year thousands of people read our announcement. Some called the telephone number you see at the bottom. Now they are working in new careers, meeting new people, making good salaries. They actually changed their lives.

You can do the same. Or you can go on the way you are. It's yours to decide.

MORE THAN A DIPLOMA: YOU GET A JOB

A Phillips diploma is something to be proud of. But the real pride comes on your new job—when you find you can do it.

Businessmen keep in close touch with our placement service. They know our graduates are highly trained. You have a choice of good employers. You go to work without delay, enjoying the salary, the prestige, the confidence that your new skills have given you.

ONLY WHAT YOU NEED

Phillips has many different short-term career training programs. They are thorough. Practical. Flexible. You study only what you need. One of them is right for you.

Call our Admissions Representative and make an appointment to talk it over.

There is no obligation. But remember, class sizes are limited. Don't be left out; the number is at the bottom.

ARE FINANCES A PROBLEM?

They needn't be. If Phillips accepts you, you are automatically eligible for a Federal-insured student loan. Your loan is interest free until you complete your program. Then it is only 7%. You need pay nothing until one year after you finish. Payments can be as low as $30 per month. The loan is made to you, the student, not your parents or spouse.

Your country offers you this opportunity. Remember, what you put in your head is the best investment you can make.

Our students learn on ultra-modern equipment, including a 50-student electronic shorthand lab. Our technical training division uses the very latest developments in industrial electronics.

PROFESSIONAL CAREER GUIDANCE

You must be a high school graduate or equivalent to enter Phillips. All applicants are required to pass the famous Wonderlic Business Aptitude Test.
